Excellent Address Delivered by Father Murphy at Afternoon Meeting.

Kindness Is the Essence of Char-Ity and Spirit of the Society.

The feast of St. Vincent de Paul, patheld by the acciety upon the Sunday Charles Borromeo, of which the Rev. Charles P. Raffo is the pastor, was selected by the Particular Council of the society as the one at which all the members throughout the city should assemble, there to assist at mass and receive communion in a body.

The attendance was the largest in forty years-in fact, was larger than the seataround the walls, no one but membera of the society being allowed to enter. The male choir from St. Louis Bertrand's, under the direction of Prof. Carl Hsmmersbach, rendered Dumont's Gregorian mass. After the mass Father Raffo the men on their large attendance and the men on their range attendance and always to the fore we can never wholly heart. Listen to this beautiful plaint: bye, as I am tired writing. I can never thanking them for the honor shown his psrish. He said, "Praise no man until feil. he is dead," is au axiom of some of the doctors of the church, but he considered work, quietly and unostentatiously, with true Vincentian spirit, making no parade sbroad of their charity until they would receive the acme of rewards-eternal happiness

On the request of Father Raffo the Very Rev. Father Louis G. Deppen also made a brief address, in which he expressed his plessure at the sight of 500 approaching the holy sacrament. After mass the Vincentiana were invited to the school hall adjoining the church, where they were regaled with a substantial breakfast provided by the ladies of St. Charles' congregation.

At 3 o'clock Sunday afternoon the acciety convenued in St. Francis' Hall for the purpose of hearing the quarterly reports of the various conferences as well as the reception of new membe . The people are all in America, to deliver the principal address of the meeting. Father Murphy began by repeating the motto of the society:

Our day is very fond of the chivalry and romance of past ages. There are knights of every aim aud for most any object. For many their field of valor is the banquet table, their armament a knife, fork and spoon. Not with these do I call you knights, but as champions of the deserving poor and the distressed, as men who brave dangers and sacrifice themselves for others in the true apirit of chivalry. As such your reports are indeed a roll of honor. You are helping to win souls from sin and E. J. Mann.

I have been much impressed by the sensitiveness of the deserving poor. They looking about for means to help me in caring for the poor I turned to the mother church—the Cathedral. I felt that the spirit there was formed by one we all loved, dear Father Bouchet, and it was just such acciety and just such esprit de corps that would render valuable assistance in the new conference at St. William's. But my most sanguine Europe during the present week. He hopes in establishing St. William's con-ference did not hold out promise of such main acveral weeks. His Grace will gratifying results. These Vincentisns bave become my right hand, ever ready and willing to second any effort for the good of the parish, and I hope and pray that they may ever be the comfort and joy they are to me now, Not only thia, hut all the conferences abow a vast amount of good done. The reports indicate that we have caught the apirit Letter From Ireland Written by that Ozanam desired should inspire each conference, namely, infinite kindness. Continuing his address Father Murphy discussed St. Paul'a analysis of charity and declared that kindness was the most active ingredient of all its component parts. Our fathers sought freedom here, and the age teaches "Make the most of yourself." This selfness has fallen into selfishness. Life has become hard and unfeeling. The palm is to the hustlers, and they are few. The tracks are lined with wreckage. Among the many we will find much longing for something more than bread and raiment. Blighted souls are aching for sympathy and kindness, and they repsy it with hives full ioneycombed with sweetness. Among the separated brethren, a life full of charity like yours accomplishes much for God and holy church.

It is the aim of our society to help the ron of the society which bears his name, poor. A movement is now on foot to have the four divisions unite on this project, and wherever it has been mentioned the idea has found favor. In fact no argument has been made against the plan, since the most fastidious has nothing to urge against it.

The matter was first broached at a meeting of Division 3 last week. There it met with favor and steps were st once taken to get the other divisions in line. When Division 1 met Tuesday night the matter was taken up and at once met with favor. Division 4 met Thursday night and the members at once saw the advantage of a uniou picnic at some popular resort. As a matter of course Division 2 will fall into line when the idea is brought to its attention.

The members of No. 1 are enthusiastic over the affair and laid definite plans for carrying out their ideas last Tuesday night. The meeting was well attended, and the aemi-annual reports showed an increase in finances and in memberahip. The third annual orphans' festival phans' Society wili take place on the heautiful grounds of the asyium at Crescent Hill on Wednesday, August 23. Intense interest is manifested in this festival and in German Catholic circles it is considered the event of the season. The festival wili be as eloborate as it was iast year. Special éfforts wiil be made to enterlain the visitors, and a complete programme will be published later. A good dinner and supper will be served hy the iadies, and all know that these German-American ladies are expert cooks. In order to avoid a rush in the dining room two lunch stands will he erected, where coffee and sandwiches may be secured. Ali can be assured a good time and a quick meal. The married ladies that are kindly assisting the men of the orphans' society will have complete charge of the dlning room, aud the young ladles of the ten German congregations of Louisville wili have charge of the following hooths:

A general meeting of the chairmen of these hooths was held at St. Boniface's Hali last night and plans for working in harmony were mapped out. The iadies of St. Boniface's congregation are very enthusiastic in their work and have called a general meeting of all the young iadies of the parish to take place tomorrow afternoon. The central officers of the St. Joseph Orphans' Society confidentiy expect to see the enthusiasm of St. Boniface's ladies spread to the other German congregations, and also hope to have the united support of ali, especially as the society is so much in need of a good financial result. Frankfort avenue n front of the ssylum is being paved with asphait, and as this frontage extends 600 feet it means an outlay of and are therefore using every effort to make the third annual festivai even

St. Anthony's Picnic Promises to Be a Financial and Social Success.

The annual picnic for the henefit of St. Anthony's church at Twenty-third of Columbus, and Market streets will be given at Riverview Park on Monday, August 7, instead of last Monday, as was inadvertently published last week. The large congregation has been making preparations for this picnic for some time past, and it is expected that a large crowd will attend. The Committee on Arrangements is made up of the following gentiemen: Messrs. Henry Nadorff, Philip Ackerman, Johu t is possible to secure service equal to Heer, Joseph Everslage, Henry Eilers, Frank Senn, Henry Evers, A. Jansen, Joseph Sihler and Joe Sayera. These gentlemen have apared no pains to make everything as complete as possible at Riverview Park and hope that the members of the other congregations will join in making St. Anthony's pieric a success. The ladles of St. Anthony's congregation will serve dinner and supper on the piculc grounds and promise to have an ampie supply for all at reasonable prices.

HEARTY SUPPORT

Given Catholic Federation by the Archbishop of New Orleans.

The clergy and iaity of New Orieans are working together to make fitting arrangements for the reception of delegates to the National Catholic Federation which is to take piace in the Crescent City next October. A few days ago Archhishop Chapelle, in addressing a meeting of Catholics at Opelousas, apoke feelingly of the work of Catholic federation in Louisiana. His Grace has been a most opportune friend to the federation movement, and without his support it would have been a failure in that grand old Catholic State, Louisiana. Not only has Archhishop Chapelie given the movement his morai support, but he has urged pastors and laymen in New Orleans to give their time and money toward makiug the reception and entertainment of the National delegates a success.
